After the recent Cyprus riots he became Governor of the Colony, a position he has held up to now.

BLUE SHIRT HEAD INJURED

MOB SMASHES THROUGH POLICE CORDON

BAYONET CHARGES

DUBLIN, OCT. 7.
TROOPS WITH FIXED BAYONETS AND TEAR-GAS BOMBS WERE RUSHED FROM CORK TO TRALEE TO-DAY TO QUELL DISTURBANCES ARISING FROM THE ACTIVITIES OF GENERAL O'DUFFY, THE BLUE-SHIRT LEADER.

General O'Duffy and his second-in-command, Mr. Cronin, were injured by the rioters, who attacked their party violently.

Disorderly scenes developed from the moment that O'Duffy and Cronin attempted to enter the Convention of the United Ireland Party.

SERIOUS TRALEE DISORDERS

Serious disorders which followed rapidly got out of control of the local forces, necessitating the summoning of military eighty miles from Cork.

The rioters, who were armed with stones and batons, were apparently determined to prevent the Convention from meeting.

They surrounded O'Duffy and Cronin, who were with other delegates, and attacked them violently, several of the number being badly hurt.

O'Duffy himself was struck over the head with a blunt instrument and blood was streaming down his face.

Cronin was slightly injured about the back.

FIGHT WAY THROUGH.

Both of them successfully fought their way into the hall, which was immediately besieged by a large crowd, which engaged in the smashing of windows and wrecking of the delegates' cars.

The Civic Guard at Tralee vainly tried to form a cordon round the hall pending the arrival of the military.

The mob was in an ugly mood and broke through the cordon repeatedly, hard blows being given and taken.

Disturbances went on intermittently for some considerable time but the arrival of two lorry-loads of soldiers from Cork soon put an end to the trouble.

Their actual arrival was the signal for further rioting, but the military fixed bayonets and charged the crowds, at the same time using tear-gas bombs, which soon quietened the situation.

ESCORTED FROM TOWN

General O'Duffy alleges that he was struck on the head five times with a hammer, but he was well enough to finish the business of consolidating the formation of the new branch of the United Ireland Party before the troops escorted him from the town.—Reuters.

CORK RIOTS.

Upwards of 70 people were injured in the course of violent clashes which occurred this week in Cork on the occasion of a mass-meeting of the Blue-Shirts at which General O'Duffy delivered an address. A great crowd of Republicans attempted to break up the meeting and it took the combined efforts of 600 policemen and soldiers to quell the disturbances and to restore order. Sporadic fighting between hostile groups continued in the streets throughout the night.

CLOSING OF ARMY ROADS

LEGAL REQUIREMENT

The annual closing of roads and paths on War Department property will take place during the 24 hours between 8 a.m. on October 12 and 8 a.m. on October 13. All persons not in uniform must ask permission to proceed along these roads during this period. The roads affected will be those between Murray Barracks and Kennedy Road, those around Austin Barracks, Middle Road (Kowloon) and the Kowloon City Rifle ranges.

LOCAL PROMOTIONS

The following military promotions have been recently gazetted: 2nd Lieut. P. G. Parker, D. A. Kayll and A. G. L. Close (Royal Artillery), D. P. St. C. Rosier (Lincolns), D. R. Stevenson and J. B. Harvey (Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders) to be Lieutenants.

GERMANY ADAMANT

REFUSAL TO BUDGE ON DISARMAMENT

DIFFERENCES REMAIN

London, Oct. 6.

Princes Otto von Bismarck, Acting Charge d'Affaires at the German Embassy in London, called at the Foreign Office this morning and had a conversation with Sir John Simon on the disarmament question.

It is understood that a preliminary statement was made of the German Government's attitude towards the treatment of armaments in any convention negotiated at the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

In particular, observations on the questions which had been addressed to Baron von Neurath during the recent conversations at Geneva were placed before the British Foreign Secretary.

The report that the German Government's attitude on the main questions upon which differences have arisen remains unchanged.

TRANSITION PERIOD.

Germany rejects the project for a transition period to give a trial to the new system of supervision and control of armaments and during which period the present inequality of armaments would be maintained without modification.

A Geneva message states that the German Government is credited with the intention of insisting on its demands for an immediate Disarmament Convention granting equality of rights.

This afternoon, Sir John Simon saw the French and Italian representatives in London and informed them of the substance of the German Government's communication. It is anticipated that it will be the subject of conversations at Geneva next week.

MONDAY'S MEETING.

The Bureau of the Disarmament Conference has been summoned to meet there on Monday when Germany will be represented by Herr Madolny, Captain Anthony Eden, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will be the principal British delegate pending the arrival of Sir John Simon who is remaining to attend the Cabinet meeting on Monday. He is expected to leave for Geneva on Tuesday morning.—British Wireless.

COUNTER PROPOSALS.

Geneva, Oct. 6.
German counter proposals to the recent disarmament plan set forth in the agreement drawn up by Great Britain, France and Italy, are more in the nature of additions or supplementary suggestions than objections. Although details are not yet known here, the reaction is said to be unfavourable in Paris.—Reuters.

BARRACKS FIRE

MYSTERY BLAZE IN KOWLOON

ON RIFLE RANGE

A fire of mysterious origin broke out in a shed shelter on the south side bordering on Canton Road, of Whitefield Barracks at Kowloon, late last night, resulting in a rather severe blaze and the almost total destruction of the structure before it was extinguished by the combined efforts of the military and firemen.

Two minutes before midnight, smoke and flames shot up from the roof of the building which is on the Rifle Range, and there was a general run-out of the Indian troops on an alarm being given. While all was done that could be done with the equipment at their command, a call was sent out to the Fire Brigade, and two engines rushed to the scene from Tsimshatsui, followed quickly by a third engine from Mongkok.

Hoses were quickly hitched up to the mains, and the water supply was sufficient to enable the Brigade to secure early control of the blaze. Within a quarter of an hour, the fire was put out.

Another Outbreak

At a quarter to eleven o'clock last night the Hongkong Fire Brigade received a call from Kennedy Town, where a fire had broken out in the premises of the Hongkong Manufacturing Company at Belchers Street.

The outbreak was located in a small building isolated from the main premises within the factory compound. Flames were first observed in a cockpit, and the outbreak was already being dealt with by the factory staff when firemen arrived with an engine from Kennedy Town and two others from Central.

The job gave no great difficulty, and within a fairly short space of time danger was over.

TRADE SLACKENS

AMERICAN STATISTICS FOR SEPTEMBER

PRESIDENT'S NEW DRIVE

WASHINGTON, OCT. 6.
A NEW EFFORT IS BEING MADE BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO GIVE A SPUR TO INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY.

He announced to-night that a "Commodity Credit Corporation" will be created immediately, with an initial capital of three million dollars, and with authority to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and from the Land Fund with commodities as security.

The Corporation's initial duty will be to implement the Government's pledge to lend the cotton growers ten cents a pound on their cotton in an effort to raise prices.

Washington, Oct. 6.

The gravity of the strike situation has compelled President Roosevelt to devote almost his entire attention to this side of the industrial picture.

While recognizing that the unrest in the coal industry is highly dangerous, however, the Administration is hopeful of an early improvement.

President Roosevelt has enlarged the National Labour Board from seven to eleven members to enable the Board to cope with the pressure of work which has been produced by the strikes.

PERSONAL INTERVENTION?

General Hugh Johnson, the Recovery Administrator, is hoping to secure the early resumption of work by at least seventy-five thousand strikers.

There are grounds for belief that President Roosevelt, who has been content to leave the problem in the hands of his expert advisers, will intervene personally in the labour war as the result of a hurried visit by General Hugh Johnson to the White House, after hearing Governor Pinchot, the Governor of Pennsylvania.

Governor Pinchot is urging the President to take personal action to bring peace to the coal industry.

NO BLOODSHED.

The strikes continue to spread, but unlike yesterday, there was no bloodshed to-day.

The recovery programme is not proceeding very happily.

Three million workers have been reemployed between March and the end of September, according to the Federation of Labour review, which, however, asserts that the increase in employment has been entirely offset by the shorter hours and the higher prices ruling in the retail market.

The Federation also says that production has increased by forty-four per cent. since March, whereas the country's buying power has only increased by seventeen per cent.

TRADE SLACKENS.

The Federal Reserve Bulletin records that retail sales in New York, Brooklyn and Newark declined by approximately seven per cent. during September.

The Dun and Bradstreet's analysis of business conditions asserts that the general trade pace has perceptibly slowed down.

President Roosevelt has called upon Mr. Wallace, the Secretary of Agriculture, to speed up the cotton loan which are lagging so expensively.

The Textile Institute reports that 145,000 workers have been reemployed and that the payrolls of the mills have more than doubled since March.

STEEL COMPLAINT.

Steel manufacturers have officially complained that the fixed price of steel rails at thirty-five dollars a ton involves a manufacturing loss, but they may accept the offer in order to spread employment.—Reuters.

The inflation battle is still going on. Mr. William Green, head of the American Federation of Labour, is dead against inflation of the currency.

"The inflation of the dollar might make the price of commodities higher," Mr. Green said, "but nobody has shown us they can put more dollars in my envelope within reasonable times after inflation. It would mean an immediate rise in living costs without a corresponding increase in wages."

Anti-inflationists construe the statement as voicing the desires of the Administration because Mr. Green is Labour Adviser to the Industrial Recovery Administration and has the confidence of the Administration on many important questions.

Inflationists contend that experience has shown that, on matters of importance, no one has thus far been authorized to speak for the President.

The campaign against inflation continues with New York as its centre and newspapers continuing to warn of its dangers.

SHORT-SIGHTED ADVOCACY.

Mr. Roger Babson, the business economist, in his report on conditions, deplores what he terms "the short-sighted advocacy of maximum inflation on the part of certain groups." He adds that neither the people nor business circles should be discouraged because the national recovery programme is so slow in its progress toward the price levels of 1926. He says that business conditions were generally good, although there has been a drop in the level since July. The September Index was 78 compared with 89 for the month of July. Mr. Babson pointed out, however, that the figure for September a year ago was 65 and that much of the advance had been maintained.

GUARDS CALLED OUT.

New York, Oct. 6.
Four companies of the National Guard have been sent to Saline County, Illinois, as a result of pickets of the Progressive Union resorting to violence.

The pickets attempted to prevent mine workers returning to work on one of the Peabody Mines.

Six houses in the neighbourhood of the mine were bombed.

Electric power to the mines was cut and a railway bridge blown up by dynamite, while 1,200 pickets shot at every passer-by along 15 miles of the main road. It is reported that 20 of the passers-by were wounded, three of them seriously.—Reuters.

JAPANESE AERODROME IN TIENTSIN?

Serious Controversy Threatening

Tientsin, Oct. 7.
Serious controversy threatens to develop between the Chinese and Japanese authorities in Tientsin over the Chinese protest against the Japanese construction of an aerodrome.

The Chinese authorities have ordered the owner, who sold the land to the Japanese for this purpose to resume his property.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

BLACK AND STRIPES FOR BEACH SPRITES

By Joan Savoy

Pinafors or pyjamas—you can take your pick for those days when you go down to the sea.
Most of the snappiest beach ensembles come in washable materials this season. Cottons, in new and alluring disguises; linen in non-crushable form. The cottons may be as gay as your heart's desire. The linens are bewitching, they are so smart and dandy black!

For the girl who likes her skirts to hide behind, here is a new version of the beach dress that is a veritable pinafors. It just wraps around you and ties. It is made of handsome striped cloth, in the gayest red and white.
There's a low back to it, of course, so you can get tanned. And the skirt is cut circular and very full, so it won't gape open when you stretch your legs for a run along the sands or when you flop down for a quite snooze.

There's a hat like the dress, just a little beret that you stick on one side of your head. And of course you'll need a beach bag to carry your make-up, sun spectacles, etc.
For the girl who likes trousers and wears 'em, here are the latest black linen beach pyjamas. The top is peppermint striped sheer cotton. And the hat is one of those cartwheels which are so rightly named!

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"The rain is raining all around,
It rains on field and tree. It rains on the umbrellas here,
And on the ships at sea."
It rains as I write. Outside my window two robins are pulling a wet worm from under the nicotiana.
Beside me my canary is singing a low little rain song from the top of a door (his cage is always open). The air is soft, sweet, fragrant, and the gentle rain drones a tune. A quiet soft day when the earth talks in poetry!

Rain-Reading

On just such a morning as this, very likely, Stevenson wrote that verse.
Children love little verses. This is the kind of weather to hunt up the books and read them such poems as Rose Fyleman's "Rainy Morning":

"As I was walking in the rain
I met a fairy down the lane,
We walked along the road together.
I soon forgot about the weather.
He told me lots of lovely things:
The story that the robins sing,
And where the rabbits go to school,
And how to know a fairy pool,
And what to say and what to do,
If bogles ever bother you.
The flowers peeped from hedgy places
And shook the raindrops from their faces,
And furry creatures all the way
Came popping out to say
'Good-day.'
But when we reached the little bend,
Just where the village houses end,
He seemed to slip into the ground
And when I looked about I found
The rain was suddenly all over,
And the sun was shining on the clover."
Children love little rhymes. They bring a taste for other poetry later on. And we all read too little of it.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Poise, like many other good things, doesn't seem important if you have it. But if you do not have it, its importance looms extremely large.

Many an ugly duckling has overcome handicaps because she knew how to walk, how to sit, how to leave and enter a room and how to carry on a free and easy conversation with anybody and everybody.

No matter how beautiful your face, figure and hair may be, their beauty will be wasted on a heedless world if you lack poise.

It is nothing extraordinary to fall over furniture, stand on first one foot and then the other and stammer when you are spoken to if you are in your very early teens. But once you have passed the adolescent age, your muscles should be coordinated to give you a free and easy manner.

Learn to sit still. There is no excuse for a person always to be jumping up and down and fidgeting in his chair. It takes time and much practice but you can do it if you want to.

In the Swim In Eel Grey

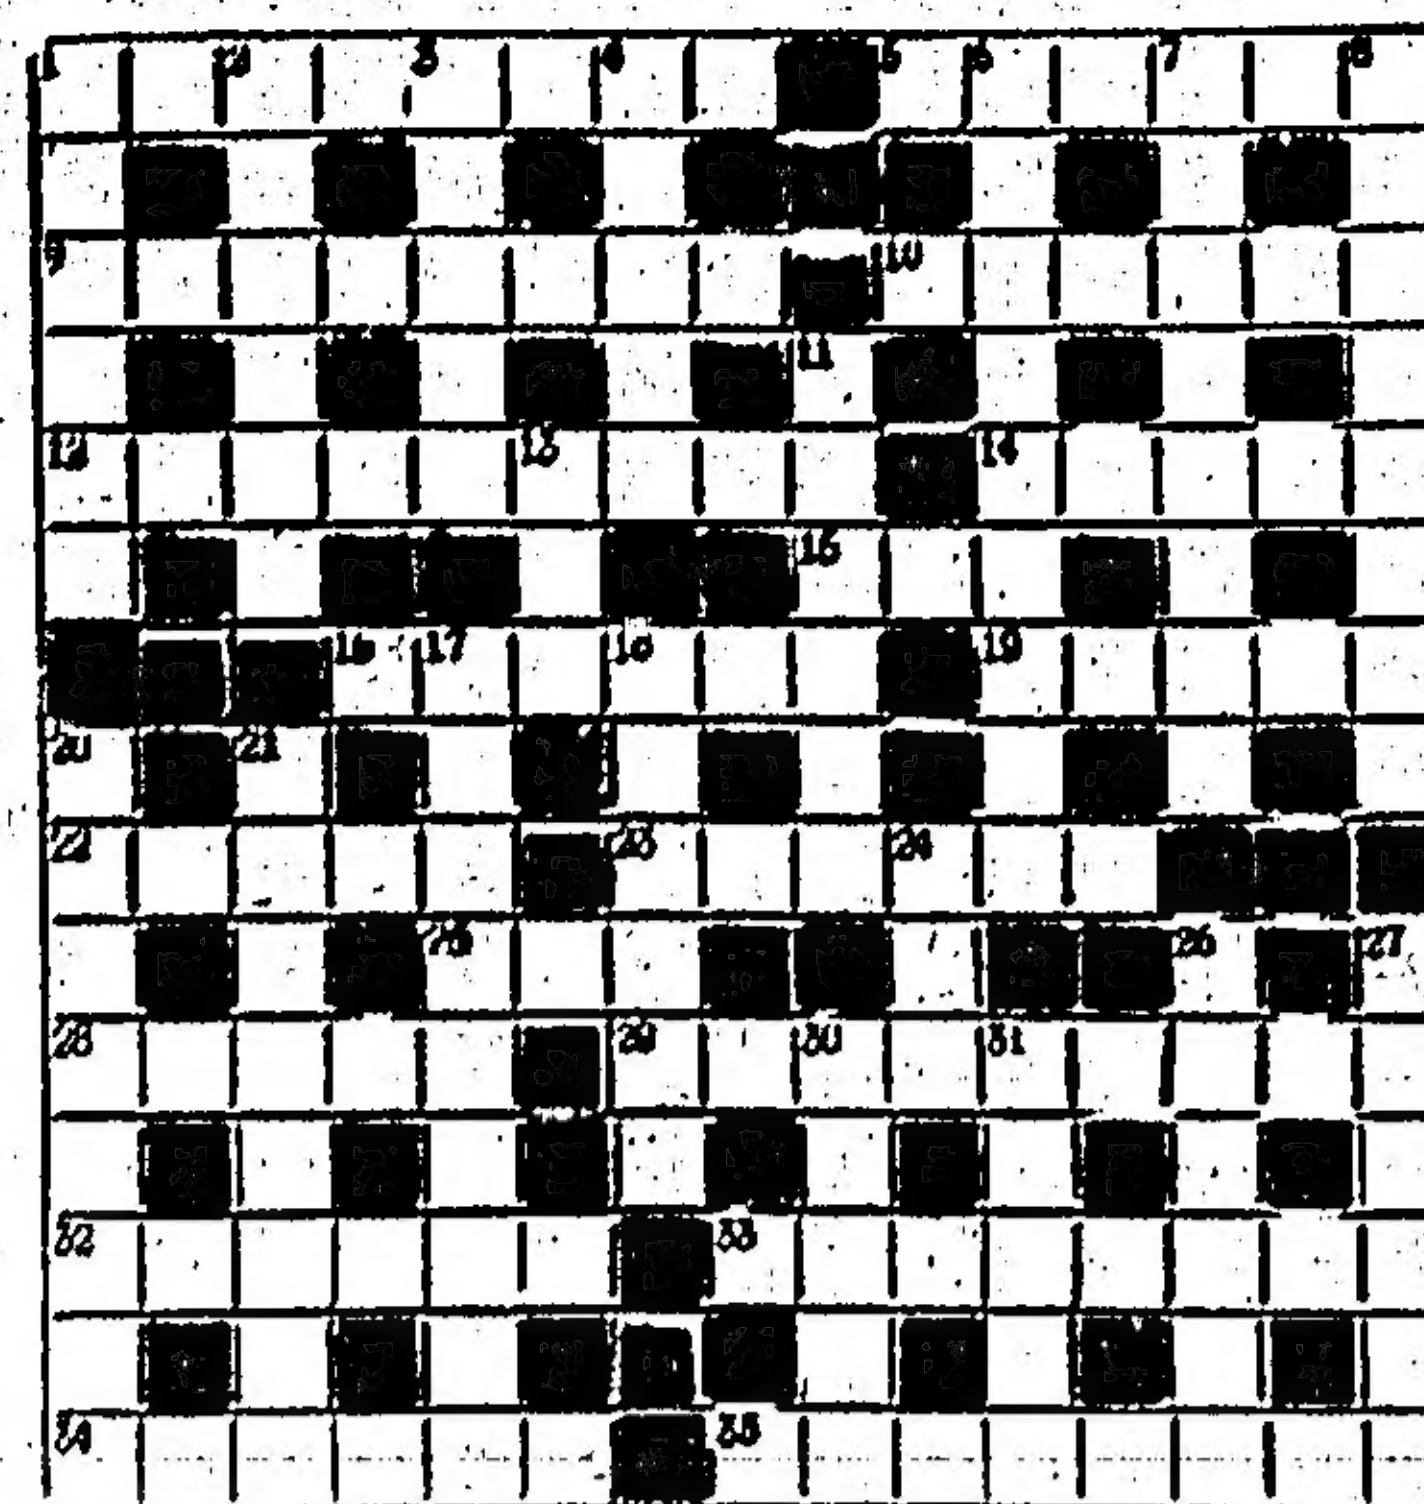

If you're wise, you'll see that your new autumn wardrobe includes at least one two-piece wool sports dress.

One model that is sure to be favoured has a plain wool skirt in the new eel grey and a red and white and grey plaid blouse, worn outside the skirt.

Top the outfit with an eel grey rabbit's hair hat and you'll be the last word in chic simplicity.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XLI

But Eve did not give up her job at Bixby's next morning. Instead she burned the letter she had written to Dick.

"I'll have to keep away from Mrs. Penney and Mary," she decided. "They always put me in a sentimental mood. After all, there's no more reason why I should give up my work than that Dick should give up his!"

It would be foolish, she assured herself, to give up the comforts she enjoyed in Lake City for the privations under which she was sure Dick lived in Pine Forest.

In mid-December he wrote to her: "When it snows up here it snows and stays snowed! We have had to burrow our way through the drifts for several weeks now and there's no knowing how long it will be before this blanket of snow thaws. We have had some difficulty getting over the hills to the job because the road is almost impassable at this time of the year. Fortunately, though, we work under cover. We've had enough men on the job to make considerable progress. The two buildings are separated by a patch of woods so I have to make frequent trips back and forth, keeping an eye on both jobs at practically the same time. By night I'm pretty tired and don't need to be rocked to sleep."

Dick did not seem to mind the hardships of this life in the woods. Indeed he did not even consider such primitive surroundings as hardships. He never wrote to Eve that he missed her and she failed to read between the lines. Though each letter always concluded, "With all my love—Dick," Eve wanted more proof than that of his steadfast devotion.

She was disappointed that he made no reference to the coming holidays. Her resentment grew until she felt she had a real grievance because he failed to show concern over the Christmas ahead. The day was to fall on Wednesday and Eve felt that Dick should come home to spend a week or 10 days. Her better judgement told her it would be a long expensive trip to make and that Dick's work was too important for him to leave it to others at this time. She knew that the wives of some of the men who were working with him had gone to Pine Forest and were making homes for their husbands there.

Eve wondered how Dick explained the absence of his own wife who remained in Lake City to work despite the fact that his name topped the camp payroll.

Ten days before Christmas she mailed a box to Dick which she took great pleasure in packing. There was the pair of skates he had wanted for years. Eve was sure they would mean more to him this year, perhaps, than at any other time. She shared with him the homemade fruit cake and Christmas cookies her mother had sent her. Kate Bayless' holiday baking took place early in December and she was generous with it. Eve packed a box of candy with a generous supply of the chocolate centred butter creams of which Dick was so fond. And in the sporting goods department of Bixby's she had found many articles of wearing apparel she felt would make his winter more comfortable. The card which Mrs. Penney designed for her bore the message, "Christmas Love to Dick."

The Saturday night before Christmas she boarded the west-bound train which would carry her to her parents' home, a 12-hour ride distant. She felt she could not endure Christmas alone in Lake City although she knew she should have saved the money spent for railway fare to help pay her debts.

The day before Christmas a telegram for Eve was delivered at Bixby's advertising office. Arlene signed for it.

"From Pine Forest, N. Y., no doubt," she said to Mrs. Penney. "I suppose Eve's husband is wishing her an extra Merry Christmas. He certainly is the answer to a maiden's prayer—and I don't see how Eve dares to be so casual about him."

Mrs. Brooks expressed the same sentiment to her oldest son Christmas morning. The Rader doorbell had been ringing incessantly for many minutes before her own second. She hurried to see who her caller might be and opened the door to face Dick, who stood, hat in hand, with a worried look on his face. He all but ignored her Christmas greetings in his haste to ask about Eve.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" Mrs. Brooks hastened to explain. "Mrs. Rader left to spend Christmas with her parents. Didn't you know?"

"I must have missed her letter telling me she was going," Dick retorted to defend Eve. "I was away from Pine Forest and didn't get my mail for a few days."

Mrs. Brooks had a key to the apartment which she gave Dick. After he had gone she shook her head mournfully. "The poor dear!" she said. "To come all that way for Christmas and then find nobody at home. I'll ask him to dinner."

Dick found himself placed next to Dorothy McElhinney at the dinner table. If he missed the companionship of his wife he suffered nothing from lack of solicitude. Miss McElhinney gave him her undivided attention, engaging in a sprightly conversation and causing him to laugh frequently. When the dinner came to an end Dick lingered in the pleasant living room of Mrs. Brooks' suite. Later when Miss McElhinney noticed that he was becoming restless she suggested a walk and directed his footsteps toward the theatre district.

"Let's go inside," Dick suggested as they approached the building on which he had worked so long. "I'd like to look up some of my old friends."

Dick placed Miss McElhinney in a seat and then left her while he visited in the manager's office and then went backstage.

After the matinee they followed a throng to a popular Christmas restaurant where they dined and danced. Then it was time for Dick to take the train east. He called a taxicab.

"Someone ought to see you off," Miss McElhinney said sweetly. "I'll ride to the station with you."

And of this experience Dorothy McElhinney made the most. She met Eve in the hall the first evening after her return from home and, with a maliciousness she took little pains to conceal, told of Dick's arrival and her own part in entertaining him.

"The poor man!" she purred. "I felt so sorry for him. I did my best to make him forget his loneliness."

"I dare say you did," Eve retorted and closed the door abruptly. Dick's telegram, lying on Eve's desk when she arrived at the office that morning, had been a shock. Her Christmas at home had been most unsatisfactory, due to the fact that she missed Dick so and none of her relatives seemed to sympathize with her. Women of her mother's type knew but one code after marriage—duty to husband and family.

Eve noticed the ashes in the tray next to Dick's favourite chair. Wearily she sank into the chair and tenderly stroked the arms because Dick had been there so recently. She closed her eyes and tried to picture just how he looked, wondering whether he were thinner, tired and sad looking or robust and happy. Miss McElhinney would know, she thought bitterly, and her resentment against Dick and the girl increased as she pondered over the latter's story of Dick's Christmas.

Of course they had planned it all. She had been blind to fail to see it before. That was why he had not notified her sooner of his plans. Uncontrollable sobs broke from Eve and her body shook. At last she went to bed.

It was then that she found Dick's Christmas gift. He had placed the package under her pillow. Eve drew it out and unwrapped it. Inside was a cameo pin with an old gold setting.

Of course Dick was hurt because Eve had not confided to him her plan to go home to visit her parents. She had had plenty of time to do so. It had only been the day before Christmas when he found that he could get away from work long enough to make the trip to Lake City. The severity of the winter snow storms was causing much difficulty on the job and Dick had been prepared to spend most of Christmas day at work. Thus he had been unable to foresee the change in circumstances which made it possible for him to leave.

In Eve's next letter to Dick she berated him for neglecting to let her know that he was coming. His answer was a frank retort. After reading that letter Eve had no doubt that he considered her selfish. That he was displeased with the outcome of their marriage was also evident.

Eve destroyed the flippant reply she had composed. She had the grace to admit to herself that the present situation was her own fault. But something preposterous in her nature prevented her telling Dick this.

Thus the breach widened. (To be Continued.)

INDIA POLICIES.

LIVELY DEBATE AT PARTY PARLEY

London, Oct. 6. A lively debate on the Government's Indian policy took place at the Conservative Party Conference at Birmingham to-day.

Leaders asked for the support of a resolution voicing apprehension in regard to a white paper's proposals concerning finance, police and the welfare of the Indian peoples, as well as the trade discrimination against Britain.

Lord Lloyd said the proposals would render Britons aliens in India.

The Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, on behalf of the Government, said the proposal contained ample safeguards in respect to defence and trade discrimination, and an amendment urging the delegates to suspend judgment until the Select Committee reported, was carried by 737 to 344 votes.—Reuter.

CORONER'S INQUEST

ALLEGED REFUSAL OF HOSPITAL ADMISSION

A Coroner's enquiry into the death of a coolie, Chan Sze-wing, who died in the Government Civil Hospital after a fall from a lorry while in motion, was commenced before Mr. Schofield, sitting as Coroner at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, and further adjourned until next Thursday, October 12, at 2.30 p.m. The jury was composed of Messrs. J. B. MacDonald, foreman, F. H. Farnie and Tsung Fo-tong.

Dr. Thomas, of the Government Civil Hospital, said that death was due to a fracture of the skull and contusion of the brain. The deceased's skull was rather abnormal, in that it was thinner than the average skull. It was like a child's skull.

Lam Chun-lu, who was seated next to the driver, said that on September 15 the lorry was being driven along Connaught Road, Central. It carried a mattress and two wooden benches. Two foks were seated in the back of the lorry. It was being driven at an ordinary speed, and turned into Murray Road at the same speed. One of the foks then fell off. He did not see the man fall off, but heard a shout and the lorry was stopped. The deceased was lying on the road about three feet behind the lorry.

Evidence of Companion.

Li Luk, the foki who was seated in the back with the deceased, said that the lorry was travelling at a fast speed, and turned into Murray Road at that speed. It swerved swiftly, and the deceased was thrown off. The deceased was not holding on to anything. Deceased was lying about three feet behind the lorry when it stopped. Witness felt a jerk when the lorry turned into Murray Road. When taken to the Government Civil Hospital admission was refused, and they were told to report the matter first to the police. This he had heard from another man.

Lo Wing, the driver of the lorry, stated that it was proceeding along Connaught Road about 15 miles an hour, and he slowed down when turning into Murray Road to nine miles an hour. This witness also alleged that the hospital had refused admittance to the man until the matter had first been reported to the police. He further said that after the lorry had stopped, the mattress had fallen off the benches, which had also fallen on their sides.

At this stage, Mr. Schofield adjourned the hearing to enable the Government Civil Hospital authorities to give evidence explaining the refusal of admittance which the two witnesses had complained of.

SPANISH CRISIS

ZAMORA'S DILEMMA

Madrid, Oct. 6. Having failed to solve the political impasse caused by the resignation of Senor Lerroux's Cabinet, the alternative has been taken by President Zamora, who is now attempting to coalesce the contending parties into a government by national conciliation.

The Independent Republican, Senor Don Jose Pedragal, former Minister of Finance in the Royalist regime, has declined the President's invitation. Dr. Maranon has now informed the President that he will endeavour to form a Cabinet on a basis of national conciliation.

Meanwhile, the Lerroux Government, although it has resigned, continues to function as an acting administration, while the slogan of the Socialists, whose real leader is ex-Premier Azana, is "Revolution to the bitter end."—Reuter.

SCOTLAND'S FAMOUS RELIC

MONTMUSK RELI-
QUARY

SAVED FOR THE NATION

London.

The Montmusk Reliquary, Scotland's famous relic and a link with St. Columba, has been saved for the nation. It was to have come up for sale as Christmas, but certain conditions being necessary
it was withdrawn.

By the National Art Collection Fund committee, that there has been a purchase by private party. The Reliquary's future home will be the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh. The sum to be paid is £2,500.

The Reliquary was carried by St. Columba in his battles for conversion, even at Bangor, where it is a little gilded box, four and a half inches wide and three and a quarter inches high, and is formed from a block of wood battered in the interior.

It is overlaid with silver and bronze plaques and small medallions in gold and enamel.
Through the centuries the jewels
have fallen away.

St. Columba's followers founded numerous settlements. Among them was one in the parish of Fornal in Glasgow, Scotland. It was in that church that the reliquary of Brachanach of Columba was dedicated to St.
Andrew, the bishop and the protector of St. Columba.

TRADITION OF THE RELIQUARY.

Centuries ago the owner of the house of Fornal was charged with the custody of the Reliquary, and was to carry it with the relics of St. Columba before the British armies when they went to battle.

Bartholomew, Abbot of Arbroath, was present at Bangor, and according to tradition he carried the reliquary in front of the British Army.

For generations it was in charge of the family of "Macdonald of Montmusk" until a female became the heiress to the property.
She passed it to her husband.

Then it came into the possession of William Forbes. Two centuries ago the property was acquired by the Forbes family, the famous barons, and it has remained in the family possession until it came to Charles Forbes, who at the instance of Mr. Arthur Lindsay, Agent of the House of Montmusk, Abroathshire.

It was withdrawn from sale at the last moment, and since then negotiations have been going on for its acquisition for Scotland's treasures.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

A man writes us a letter making courteous inquiry on the subject of the Ford spring. He relates a recent experience in which a salesman felt he could not sell his own make of car without first depreciating the Ford car in this customer's mind. The main attack was made on the Ford spring. I take pleasure in explaining this point.

We use transverse springs in Ford cars for the same reason that we use round wheels—because we have found nothing better for the purpose.

Most people think that the only purpose of a spring is comfortable riding. But springs, and even very flexible springs, can cause discomfort as well as danger. A good spring must not only be comfortable—it must be safe. It must also assist operation economy. The spring we use serves all three purposes.

A transverse spring—which simply means a spring set crosswise—gives comfort. It is like the wings of a bird—the tips move most, while the body remains steady. I cannot prove that in a letter, but you can prove it in a Ford V-8. Any dealer will gladly allow you the opportunity.

The safety reasons for the transverse spring may be simply stated. In rounding a curve or turning a corner, one side of the car naturally lists downward. Transverse springs do not lift up the opposite side. They actually decrease the car's lean-over. Each spring is not in line with the axle and is attached at its center to the frame. This tends to prevent that swaying on a curve which is so uncomfortable and often dangerous. Notice for yourself how gently these springs control this in our car.

Transverse springs also make steering and braking exceedingly safe. The Ford car is not driven through its springs. Hence the axles do not see-saw back and forth and do not interfere with normal steering and braking action.

Now, about economy. Unsprung weight is that part of the car weight that does not rest on springs. For tire economy it must be low in proportion to sprung weight. It must be low to prevent excess jarring of the frame and body. In the Ford car it is low, due to the use of transverse springs.

We choose to retain the transverse spring for the above good reasons. From every point of view it justifies our choice. If there had been anything better for our car, we would have used it.

We make these springs ourselves—every leaf in every spring—set them up and install them. We know what they are and we know why we use them.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) to which many names are given but few really understand. It is simply weakness—a break down as it were,
of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same:
the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirit and want of energy for all the ordinary tasks of life. Now what alone is essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of

is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement

NEW POLICY IN RADIUM USAGE

DESIRABILITY OF MASSIVE UNITS

London.

An important announcement of policy on the use of a large unit of radium is made in "The Lancet."

The Radium Beam Therapy Research has been lent five grammes of radium which will be available without charge except for that involved in its safe conduct and maintenance.

"Rather more than a year ago the Radium Commission decided to disassemble the large simple unit of radium entrusted to its care and to make other use of the smaller units into which it was divided," states "The Lancet."

"This decision provoked a good deal of public criticism at the time, but the policy of the Commission was endorsed by a conference of leading members of the medical profession."

"The Conference went on to appoint a technical committee to inquire into the scientific case for mass radiation by radium and to determine the advantages and dangers attaching to the use of such radiation."

SAFETY ASSURED.

"All the evidence before us," said this technical committee, "goes to show that the use of massive units of even the largest dimensions can be as completely controlled that the safety of the patient is assured. We are satisfied that there is no foundation for the idea that the use of a massive unit is necessarily associated with any special danger to the patient. We are convinced that a large radium unit should be erected in this country, under conditions where such coordinated effort is possible, consisting of not less than five grammes of radium element."

"The conference adopted without hesitation the view of its technical committee that such a unit should be established."

Since then a body known as the Radium Beam Therapy Research has been formed and the Union Minière du Haut Katanga, which has at its disposal a large amount of radium, has agreed to lend it five grammes of radium element—and later, if necessary, a further five grammes.—Reuter.

SHOEBURYNES FIRE OUTBREAK

SOLDIERS SAVE THE TOWN FROM TEAR-GAS

The activities of six hundred soldiers saved the town of Shoeburyness, Essex, from being enveloped in clouds of teargas recently when a field caught fire within the boundaries of the Royal Artillery Garrison, Shoeburyness, and threatened to destroy a large gas chamber.

Every soldier in the barracks was called out by the orders of the Commandant, Colonel M. E. Mansell. The men fought the fire with sticks and wet sacks, and within half an hour extinguished it, but not before the flames had scorched the sides of the hut containing the gas. The strong wind blowing towards the east would have carried the gas directly over the town.

Within sixty yards of the dead end there is stored over fifty tons of high explosive ammunition.

Sentries have been posted near the scene of the fire to ensure that there is no recurrence of the outbreak.

When NERVES GO WRONG

FEAR of eventful results—misfortunes—disasters—bad news—rovers—casualties—accidents, etc., play havoc with the nervous system because the emotions seem to overpower the reasoning faculties. When nerves go wrong, physical well-being suffers. It is evidenced with headaches—nerviness—conditions of irritability—sleeplessness, etc. 'ASPRO' is the remedy. You should have it on hand ready for any emergency. 'ASPRO' soothes and steadies the nerves immediately. You don't have long to wait for relief. 'ASPRO' dispels nerve pains. It relieves the most violent headaches in from 5 to 10 minutes. 'ASPRO' changes sleepless nights into restful sleep. It removes the cause of numerous complaints because, after ingestion in the system, 'ASPRO' is a solvent of Uric Acid, a powerful germicide, an internal antiseptic, anti-periodic, antipyretic, and anti-formentative. 'ASPRO' is pure medicine in tablet form that can be taken anywhere, at any time. It contains no dangerous drugs and there are no injurious after-effects. Always. Remember 'Aspro' does not harm the heart.

'ASPRO'

WILL NOT FAIL YOU

HOW TO GIVE 'ASPRO' TO CHILDREN

Two simple methods of giving 'ASPRO' to the kiddies are: (a) with a little milk; or (b) break the tablet up and administer in a teaspoonful of jam. The dosage is: Children 2 to 6 years, 1/2 tablet; 6 to 12 years, 1 tablet; 12 to 18 years, 1 1/2 tablets. 'ASPRO' like any other medicine should not be given to babies under 2 years of age without medical advice.

Why 'ASPRO' Has a Universal Sale

The one big reason why 'ASPRO' has a universal sale is because it has a universal use. It helps all from children to parents. It relieves all kinds of aches and pains. It is the quickest finisher of colds and influenza ever discovered. It relieves rheumatism in one night, and saves many a good tooth if it is taken for toothache. You don't even have to lay up to take 'ASPRO'. You can take it in train, office, car, office, at home, anywhere, everywhere, with quick results—it is the same.

'Try ASPRO' for

Headache	Temperature
Rheumatism	Malaria
Neuritis	Dengue
Sleeplessness	Sciatica
Toothache	Gout
Enuresis	Lumbago
Neuralgia	Sore Throat
Colds	Asthma
Influenza	Hay Fever
Feverishness	Irritability

Periodical Pains Peculiar to Women.

Alcoholic After-Effects.

The PURITY of 'ASPRO'

The purity of 'ASPRO' conforms to the standard laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia—the guiding authority of the Medical Profession. With 'ASPRO' there is no Free Salicylic Acid, therefore, it does not harm the heart, or have any injurious after-effects, such as peptic ulcers, nausea, digestive or other troubles. Safeguard your health and heart by always insisting on 'ASPRO'.

First Aid for Mothers

Most children are subject to Toothache, Earache, Colds and sudden bursts of Temperature. 'ASPRO' can be safely given to children as affected. It will soothe the pain away and quickly reduce Temperature.

SCIENCE PROTECTS YOU AGAINST DANGEROUS DRUGS

WHY 'ASPRO' Does Not Harm the Heart

In appearance 'ASPRO' is merely a white tablet, yet how few realize the scientific investigations—the laboratory experimental work involved in analysis and chemistry to produce 'ASPRO' free from the development of hydrolysis and Free Salicylic Acid which is so harmful to the human system. Don't meddle with dangerous drugs. You take no chance when you use 'ASPRO'. 'ASPRO' is the safe, sure, certain tablet. It does not harm the heart or cause stomach troubles. Furthermore, it does not produce any injurious after-effects.

LOCAL CABARET PROBLEMS

Residents sufficiently interested to have made a study of the proposed regulations for the control of cabarets in the Colony will have noticed the coincidence of their appearance with a serious street brawl alleged to have involved two rival parties of habitues. One youth was sent to hospital with a wound
in the back, another was fined $100 for possession of a dangerous weapon, described as a lifepreserver. The trouble seems to have been the culmination of a series of disputes. On the surface, the coincidence seems a rather unhappy one, giving point more effectively than anything else could do, to some of the recognition of the more undesirable possibilities which it is sought officially to control by a mass of provisions for the conduct of dancing establishments.
The incident focuses official attention on this aspect more strongly than ever, and there is an inclination in some quarters to attach more importance to the affair and its relation to the cabarets than is warranted. No direct connection has, in fact, been established. Strong reason exists for a suspicion that the trouble originated over a dancing-partner, but we gather, from the fact that nothing developed in the police court proceedings showing any definite reason for the occurrence, that investigations ended in a deadlock. It is not strictly material, in any event. Dancing establishments cannot be saddled straightway with responsibility for what goes on in the next street, although it will be agreed that repetitions would justify a closer scrutiny, just as it is reasonable to assume that none of the regulations likely to be enforced would have been inserted without cause or necessity. It has to be recognized that there are dangers in the mere existence of public dancing establishments.
Were it not plain, and accepted,
that a source of immorality might easily arise in them, there would be no controversy and no regulations. Mrs. Grundy would be prying in other directions.
When, however, the question of control is considered, it has to be admitted that existing establishments in the Colony are, in the main, quite well managed; they differ from other places where dancing is a popular recreation only by the provision made for the supply of professional partners. The regulations, stringent as they are, have caused no excitement
among those chiefly concerned;
they do not involve any drastic overhauling of existing arrangements. Formalities such as the keeping of registers are now required. But it is only on the midnight curfew decision that any sense of grievance is felt.

NOTES OF THE DAY

FUTURE OF THE FRANK

London refuses to believe that the gold standard on the Continent can survive. France is facing an unbalanced Budget of roughly $100,000,000 on top of last year's Budget deficit. Taxation is difficult to increase, still worse to collect. Advances required in banking quotations give France only a few marks on gold, the suggestion being that the short way out of Budget difficulties will be taken by deprecating the currency. The idea looks simple. Depreciation by, say, 20 per cent. would increase the value of the gold held by the Bank of France by the same proportion.
This additional value would ac-cure to the Treasury, and there you are. It is, of course, not quite so simple and for the present, at any rate, the French Government appears to be determined to remain strictly attached to gold.
Many people wonder in the meantime what would be the future gold should France go "off". A mere commodity useful in the arts?
Two reasons seem to be opposed to such a view. First, there are huge gold stocks in the hands of Governments representing solid reasons for maintaining the value of the metal. Second, there is the fact that eventually some international standard will have to be restored, and none has yet been discovered that is likely to meet the moans of support attained
by gold.

SPAIN'S PROBLEM

President Zamora's solution of the Spanish ministerial crisis is, perhaps, the best in highly difficult circumstances. A Cabinet of National Conciliation would conform to the necessity of playing for time. The recent elections showed clearly that unless General Azana was prepared to divert the vast energy which he devoted to the solution of Spain's problems to the task of building up a powerful Republican political machine, his days as Prime Minister were numbered. While the Republicans fight each other, the Right wing elements are gaining ground and this is a grave danger for Spain. The day will, of course, come when the Right will govern,
but the present hyper-sensitive state of the masses, be they Communist, Anarchist or Fascist, with regard to any supplanter of a Government of the Right at present the signal for a wave of popular disorders which would bring about chaos. Azana's resignation was not unexpected and Lerroux's failure was equally predictable. Nevertheless, stability demands that they shall have an important voice in Spain's affairs.
Nothing could be more perilous than an attempt by the Right to seize upon their present temporary advantage.

THE AMERICAN SCENE

The outbreaks of violence in America are an almost inevitable result of one of the spectacular
by-products of the Recovery Act, namely, the rapid advance of the unionization of industry. Mr.
Green claims that membership of the Federation of Labour has increased to four millions and his prophecy that it will grow to ten millions is probably not over-optimistic. Conflict in these circumstances is as certain as the day. The highly individualistic leaders of American industry are hardly likely to abandon their private prejudices without putting up a stiff fight for what they regard in the light of self-preservation. Strikes are the outcome, with the usual American accompaniment of violence. It is safe, however, to regard the present situation as an unpleasant but passing phase.

BANK OBSTACLE

Mr. Roosevelt's real problem is still that of discovering ways and means of expanding the nation's credit facilities. The crux of the matter is whether he can force the banks to give credit so as to tide industry
over the gap between higher costs and delayed profits. The forcing of credit looks like a paradox. On the other hand the United States is a land of paradox. The banks are proving difficult to Mr. Roosevelt. Their responsibility is, to those who have placed their funds and their faith in them. After the nightmare of six months ago they are twice shy. Yet they are now invited to stake nothing less than their whole solvency on an unproved political experiment.

THE OTHER JAPAN

By E. L. ALLEN

We have come to a mountain-village in Japan, to a group of houses and hovels clinging to the slope. A school, a post office, and half-a-dozen ill-stocked shops keep up some sort of contact with the outside world. A restaurant has just been opened on the outskirts, with glaring lights
when dusk falls and women standing in the open doorway.

We step inside one of these houses, and what do we find? A man lies dying upstairs, his body rigid with paralysis and eaten by syphilis; he is paying the price of a lifetime of inebriety and lust. By his side a dwarf is stretched, scarcely a human figure at all, his body shrinking continually by a hideous disease, till it is like a baby's with a man's head on it.

The Family

That is all we find inside the house, except one daughter, who is busy preparing the midday meal.
The mother is out in the fields,
picking mulberry leaves to feed
the silk-worms, though there is talk in the village of something in America called a "depression", which means the silk will not be wanted. The second son is the breadwinner of the family, and he went out at dawn to work in the forge next door. The rest are from home. The eldest son is in prison for Communist propaganda in the first instance, and now for robbery with murder as well.
There were once two other daughters, but hunger was too sore to allow them to be thought of as human beings. They became marketable commodities, and one is now a prostitute in Korea; while the other, sold at first as a dancing-girl, has faded at that and taken her place, too, in the licensed quarters of a great city. At this very moment, while we are looking on,
a knock comes at the door and a postman delivers a letter. It is the calling-up notice for the second son; the breadwinner of the family is to be taken away for two years'
military service!

What is this? you ask. Is it the background for a "realistic" novel?
Yes, but it is something more as well. It is a snapshot of the other Japan, the Japan we know so little about, taken by the keen, observant eye of Kagawa. The story of this family we are seeing is told in his book "A Grain of Wheat", which has just appeared in an English dress.
The preface is dated 1930, and it has run already through 160 editions, while its appeal has been transferred to the stage and the film. It is novel, sermon, economics, politics, and various other things at once, like most of what Kagawa writes. For this man is a genius who is able to keep a dozen or more issues in the fire at one time.

The Grain of Wheat

The story is a simple one and is told in a straightforward manner, without any affectation. It deals with themes which are taken from the life of the common people.
The hero is a day-labourer in the city, whose home is in a mountain-village. He yields to the allurements of the licensed quarters, steals from his master, and runs away to escape detection. He goes back to the desperate struggle for existence in the mountains, and there he is brought in touch with new ideals which are airtight in the life of a little Christian company in the village. He is called away for military service and, still a Tolstoyan at heart, he fights in the ranks of the Japanese army when the Nationalists enter Taiwan.
Meanwhile, his bride-to-be, with the devotion which the Orient prizes so highly, carries on at home the dire struggle against poverty and disease, only to succumb two months before his return. But her death is not in vain: she is the "grain of wheat" which, dying, brings forth much fruit, and the story closes with the birth of a new village, the song of co-operators working in the fields, and the closing of the restaurant which stood as the stronghold of vice.

We hear much of the attempt which some are making to-day to solve Japan's problems by military expansion. We hear all too little of the many devoted men and women who are working to solve her problems from within, grappling with poverty, drink, and prostitution, the country's three great enemies, far more deadly than China or Russia. This story was written to set the village talking about two possible remedies,
"third-dimensional agriculture" and co-operation.

What is this "third-dimensional agriculture"? It is a scheme to turn to good use the mountain-land which will not take the plough. True, it cannot be turned into rice-fields, but, urges Kagawa,
it will grow trees, trees will yield nuts, and on nuts pigs can be fed.
A varied diet would improve the physique of the people, and a wider range of agricultural enterprise would raise their standard of life.

Co-Operation the Key

Co-operation is the key which opens all doors. Any problem which village life presents can be solved by it. Why not a co-operative wedding, for example? "A co-operative wedding!" someone says in amazement. Yes, why not? Here is a young couple who wish to marry, but must take twelve months to save up enough for the wedding-feast. Why not each guest put in twenty sen to a common fund, and also act the part of host as well?

The Tanaka Memorial is not the only programme which has been put out in Japan. Here is the programme of that other Japan, which is working without publicity
and without thought of reward.
To bury 650 brothels, stop the flow of $150,000,000 worth of liquor, accomplish the salvation of 100,000 poor, hasten the day of emancipation of 8,530,000 labourers toiling in various fields, and liberate 20,000,000 tenant farmers!

"I bet papa gets set again. He just bid five apades."

FUTURE OF INDIA

CONSERVATIVE REBELS
WITHSTOOD

CHALLENGE TO GOVERNMENT

London, Oct. 6. The Government's proposals for Indian Constitutional Reform were discussed at the Conservative Conference in Birmingham this afternoon, on a resolution proposed which recorded confidence in the Government but represented to the Parliamentary Joint Select Committee on Indian reform that apprehension was felt regarding the proposals concerning Finance, Defence, Police, the welfare of Indian peoples and trade discrimination.

Sharp differences of opinion were revealed when an official amendment was moved proposing that any final conclusion on the White Paper policy should be delayed pending the report of Joint Select Committee.

In supporting the original resolution, Lord Lloyd, Lord Fitz Alan, Marquis Hartington and others represented that the White Paper proposals were fraught with dangers to the Empire.

GOVERNMENT REPLY.

Replying to the debate, Mr. Neville Chamberlain said the resolution really aimed at arresting the proposal for central self-government in India and at confining themselves to something less than the recommendations of the Simon Commission, namely provincial autonomy in one or two centres first. That was a direct challenge to the Government.

While the resolution professed confidence in the Government it really amounted to a vote of want of confidence in the Government's Indian policy.

He suggested the Conference might well hear what the Select Committee thought before settling themselves up to judge this difficult question. The resolution was defeated and the official amendment carried by 737 votes to 344.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

With the re-assembly of the Joint Select Committee, the section of the Conservative Party, led by Mr. Winston Churchill has intensified its campaign against any "devolution" of British rule in India, particularly the transfer of the police and judiciary to Indian ministers.

The revolt was brought to a head at the Conservative Party Conference by the moving of the resolutions really condemning the Government policy of "handing over executive responsibility to Indian politicians" and seeking to defer any great constitutional changes in India before the decision of the country has been taken at a general election.

Meanwhile, the Joint Select Committee is continuing the detailed examination of the question begun nearly six years ago with the appointment of the Simon Commission. When the evidence of the manifold interests concerned is completed about the middle of November, the Committee will draw up a report on the basis of which constitutional proposals are expected to be submitted to Parliament next year.—Reuter.

21 YEARS AGO

Extracts From the "Telegraph" Files

The following extracts are from the Hongkong Telegraph for the week ended October 5, 1912.

The rate of the dollar on demand was 2-1/16.

A. A. Claxton won the 100 yards championship of the V.R.C.

The Dairy Farm, Co., Ltd., showed a profit on the year's working of $77,065.08.

The Hon. H. E. (now Sir Henry) Pollock, K.C., moved a resolution in the Legislative Council urging the British Government to erect a wireless telegraph station in Hongkong at the same time as in Singapore.

Mr. W. C. Younger, an American aviator, brought a Curtiss aeroplane to Hongkong from Manila, but was refused permission to fly here by the Military Authorities, who said the fortifications of the Colony must not be seen.

A donation of $10 for the Street Sweepers' Fund has been received from Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Parkinson. Further subscriptions of $40 to the St. John's Cathedral Fund and of $1,431 to the Cheer-O Fund will be acknowledged on Monday.

INCIDENT ON THE BORDER

Soviet Force Way into Manchukuo

SHOTS EXCHANGED

Harbin, Oct. 5.

Word received from Pograditchnaya, on the Soviet-Manchukuo border, to-day indicated that the Manchukuo border police force and Soviet soldiers exchanged shots on October 1 when the Soviet soldiers attempted to force their way into Manchukuo.

At about eight o'clock on Sunday night, the Soviet Consul at Pograditchnaya, accompanied by several Soviet soldiers, fully armed, passed the third watch-tower of the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway without the permission of the border police, according to the report.

The Manchukuo police ordered the car to stop at that point but the Soviet officials refused to obey, the report said. The first shot was fired by the Manchukuo police, whereupon the Soviet soldiers fled into Soviet territory, firing revolvers at the Manchukuo police as they did so.

Following the incident, the Soviet Consul protested to the Japanese military authorities by telephone and asserted that he would file a formal protest with the Japanese Government.

TALL SCORING

SAINTS TALLY NINE

AGAINST TAMAR

LOCAL HOCKEY.

The St. Andrew's Club, who are meeting the German Club in their first Mamak Hockey Tournament on Tuesday morning, enjoyed an easy victory over H.M.S. Tamar, whose team they defeated by nine goals to nil in a friendly fixture played on the Navy ground, King's Park, yesterday afternoon.

The Saints' forwards combined well and were in bright scoring mood. The Tamar's left full-back played a stout game, his clearances being featured by hard hits. Guest, the Saints' skipper and centre-half, was a splendid spoiler and fed his forwards with neat passes.

At the interval, the Saints led by 3-0. Mackay (2) and Fincher finding the net. In the second half, Arthur Hamson did some good work on the right wing. Mackay and Fincher each scored two further goals, the second shot of Fincher's being a brilliant reverse stick effort. Guest also scored one and Guest broke through to net the ninth goal. F. V. Wong, the Saints' left back who was seriously ill recently, made a welcome return, and together with Pat White, proved a staunch pair. St. Andrew's Club—R. H. Wong, E. H. P. White, F. V. Wong, E. MacNider, A. E. P. Guest, F. A. Broadbridge, A. B. Hamson, J. T. K. Gleghrie, N. A. E. Mackay, E. F. Fincher, K. Hussain.

JATS BEAT RECREIO.

Playing their first game of the season, the Club do Recreio were defeated by the Jats by the score of 5-1, in a friendly match on the Marina ground yesterday. The game was evenly contested, the Jats arriving with the score sheet blank.

In the second half the Jats broke through to score twice, the Recreio reducing the deficit through Pinto. In the closing stages, the Indians again penetrated the defence and scored their third goal.

MAMAK MATCH.

The Kowloon Indians will meet the Mule Corps to-morrow on the Marina Ground at 4.30 p.m. in a Mamak hockey fixture. A. E. P. Guest and Surjit Singh have been appointed to take charge of the game.

LADIES' PRACTICE.

There will be a practice game for the members of the Hongkong Ladies' Hockey Club at Soekunpoo at 3.15 p.m. to-day.

It is notified that until further notice a diver will be employed in sectioning the Cross Harbour Pipe Line which lies between the intersection of Nathan Road on the sea front and Queen's Pier. A large red flag will be flown by the diver's barge and craft are warned to give it a wide berth as the diver's operations extend to a radius of about 300 feet from the barge.

One case of typhoid, from Shaikwan, was reported to the local health authorities on Thursday.

The Government Gazette contains regulations relating to fire precautions in factories and workshops and rules relating to the storage of fireworks.

Inspector F. Shaftain, of the Hongkong Police, returned from leave by the Rangoon with Mrs. Shaftain, who will be remembered in local musical circles as Miss Luba Pecker.

His Excellency the Governor has appointed Mr. E. Cock, M.B.E., M.A., to act as a Member of the Court of the University of Hongkong, during the absence from the Colony of Mr. R. M. Dyer, C.B.E.

The St. John's Cathedral Church Council will be "at home" on Friday, October 20, to members of the Electoral Roll and their friends, for the purpose of welcoming the Very Rev. Dean Alfred Swann. Tea will be served at 4.30 p.m.

It is learned a Coroner's enquiry into the tragic fire outbreak at 36, Eastern Street on September 25 last, will be held at the Central Magistracy on October 17, commencing at 2.30 p.m. Mr. Schofield will sit as the Coroner, assisted by a jury. There were six fatalities as a result of this fire.

It has been revealed by the Police that P. Fuentes, who reported on Thursday that he was attacked by two Chinese and robbed of a wallet containing $45 in Cameron Road, has confessed that the report was untrue. The Police experienced considerable inconvenience as a result of the report, special searching squads and emergency Police being immediately sent out on the trail of the alleged highway robbers.

The Hongkong Branch of the English Association will commence its activities for the Session 1933-34 by holding a general meeting in the Helena May Institute on Tuesday, November 7. This first meeting of the Session will be devoted to a statement of accounts, election of office bearers, and a lecture on a subject yet to be announced. The Association has been fortunate in securing promises for lectures from many well-known public speakers in the Colony.

WOMEN DETECTIVES

SCOTLAND YARD INNOVATION

BIG SUCCESS

London.

London now has women detectives.

It is announced that three women have been appointed to the Criminal Investigation Department at Scotland Yard.

These women, all members of the uniformed branch of the Police Force, have worked in plain clothes since June last year. Now it is stated that their usefulness has been thoroughly proved in cases where men would find themselves handicapped.

With these appointments, it can be said that after many years of work fighting against strong prejudice the women's police section at Scotland Yard have won through to well-deserved recognition.

It can also be regarded as one of the greatest advances that women police have yet made in this country.

For many years there was a strong feeling against women being appointed to police forces, and for a long time even Scotland Yard could be said only to have merely tolerated their presence. The idea that they would ever become detectives would have been laughed to scorn under the old regime.

LORD BYNG'S EXPERIMENT.

Lord Byng, however, made the first move to break down some of the prejudice when he was Metropolitan Police Commissioner and he appointed Miss Dorothy Peto to take charge of the women's section and reorganise it.

These new appointments, therefore, may be regarded as an undoubted tribute to Miss Peto's enthusiasm and assiduity.

In police circles there has always been a genuine feeling among some that women were not either physically or temperamentally fitted for police duties.

The probationary period which the three new women officers have been undergoing as detectives at Vine Street and Marlborough Street—two of London's most important police stations—has proved otherwise.

The experiment was carefully watched by the authorities at the Yard, and it has found that the women proved themselves extremely useful and could be employed with success on almost every type of criminal detection.

Their success has definitely exploded one theory, for long regarded as an established fact, that women would never talk to women police as they do to men.—Reuter.

MOB ASSAULT ON SEMINARY

MONKS EJECTED BY FIRE

Madrid.

Headed by the Mayor of Barbas and several town councillors, a mob of two hundred persons has besieged the local monastic seminary and taken it by assault. The monks have been ejected. An attempt was made to defend the building, but when the crowd prepared to set fire to it, the inmates capitulated.

This action followed a dispute on the ownership of the building in which the seminary was installed. The monks asserted that it belonged to them, while the municipality claimed it as town property. The case was being considered in court at the time of the raid.—Reuter.

STAR SURPRISES ASTRONOMERS

INCREASES ITS BRIGHTNESS 250 TIMES

A star known as "Nova 9 in Ophiuchus" has surprised astronomers at Harvard Observatory by suddenly gleaming with a brightness about 250 times its ordinary light.

Dr. W. H. Steavenson, F.R.A.S., of Norwood, informed a representative of the Morning Post that this star had an outburst of the same kind in 1901.

"Such outbursts are characteristic of 'novae,'" he said, "and must, I think, be superficial in character, because these stars return to very much their original brightness when the outburst is over."

"Perhaps their atmosphere may be blown off in the process, or it may be that another body passing near the star is the real cause of the increased brightness."

milk

BABY'S health may be impaired by constant change of diet. Using milks of unknown origin amounts to that. They differ in constitution according to their source and thus tend to cause digestive disturbance.

You can be sure of giving baby the best and freshest Devonshire milk by giving him "Ambrosia"—milk from healthy Devonshire herds—milk purified and dried in Devonshire dairies as soon as it comes from the meadow.

"Ambrosia" contains all the important vitamins, it is many times purer and more easily digested than Grade "A" milk—yet costs less. Hospitals, Clinics and Doctors prescribe "Ambrosia." It is the safest and most delicious milk for Baby, Mother and every nursing purpose.

FLYING AMBULANCES

LATEST LIFE-SAVING DEVELOPMENT

SCHEME APPROVED

London.

Flying ambulances are Great Britain's latest life-saving development.

Official approval has been given by the Air Ministry to the scheme prepared by the British Red Cross Society for the organisation of Air Ambulance Detachments, and the Society has now arranged to begin recruiting.

Such detachments have already been formed by the Surrey and East Lancashire branches of the Society, both of which own aeroplanes, and others are in course of enrolment.

Every member of Air Ambulance detachments will be trained to give first aid, and to load stretcher cases into and out of aeroplanes.

Although in normal times, states the Society, the detachments will not have their own aeroplanes, their members will have special qualifications for dealing with urgent medical cases, such as the transport of patients to hospital by aeroplane or the carrying of doctors and nurses to the scene of accidents. In time of war they would be available for duty with the Air Medical Transport Service.

AT FULL STRENGTH.

At full strength the Air Ambulance Detachment, which will consist of men, or of men and women, is one Commandant, three pilots, two ground engineers, two mechanics and one clerk.

The Commandant must hold a certificate in First Aid and a "B" licence. He, or she, should also hold a navigator's 2nd class licence. Each pilot must hold a certificate in first aid and a "B" licence. In a detachment, the Commandant of which does not hold a navigator's 2nd class licence, one of the pilots should, if possible, hold one of these.

Circulars have now been sent to all flying clubs in the country asking them to get into touch with the country director of the Red Cross, who is the officer responsible for the organisation of Air Ambulance Detachments in their district.—Reuter.

POLICE CHIEF TOLD TO MOVE ON

COMEDY IN SYDNEY STREET

Sydney, N.S.W.

It happened at 5.15 p.m. at a busy spot near the entrance to a city railway station.

Two men were standing talking on the edge of the pavement. The policeman on traffic duty eyed them sternly once or twice, but they went on talking.

Finally the policeman went up to them and said: "Look here, you fellows have been here long enough. It's time you moved on."

The two men eyed each other, and without a further word, went away in opposite directions.

One of them was Mr. Aubrey Abbott, Federal member for Gwyder, and ex-Minister of the Crown; the other, Mr. W. H. Childs, Commissioner for Police.—Reuter.

G.B.S. "IN HIS DOTAGE"

SAYS MR. CLAYTON
HAMILTON

New York.

Mr. Clayton Hamilton, chairman of the Pulitzer prize committee on the drama, considers "Green Pastures" the greatest American contribution to dramatic art.

Citing the present slump in the drama, he attributed the cause to the War which broke the continuity between the younger generation and the older and more experienced playwrights. "Future writers, he said, will have to start over again."

"All the great dramatists of about twenty years ago," he added, "are either dead or in retirement, as J. M. Barrie is, or in their dotage, as George Bernard Shaw is. Nobody is replacing them; Eugene O'Neill is only a possibility."—Reuter.

Pepsodent announces a notable new discovery

—an entirely new cleansing and polishing material that is twice as soft as polishing materials commonly used in tooth pastes. Gives teeth a higher polish, brighter lustre—FILM stains disappear completely.

THE Pepsodent Laboratories announce a revolutionary discovery—a new cleansing and polishing material for tooth paste. For six months Pepsodent Tooth Paste has contained this remarkable new material. It possesses three exclusive virtues:

1. It stands unexcelled in removing dull, destructive FILM.
2. Its texture is invisibly fine. Thus, it imparts a higher polish to enamel—a brilliant glaze or lustre.
3. It is safe because it is soft—yes, twice as soft—as polishing materials in common use.

Yet in taste and appearance Pepsodent is still the Pepsodent you have always known. In results and safety it is new—brand new.

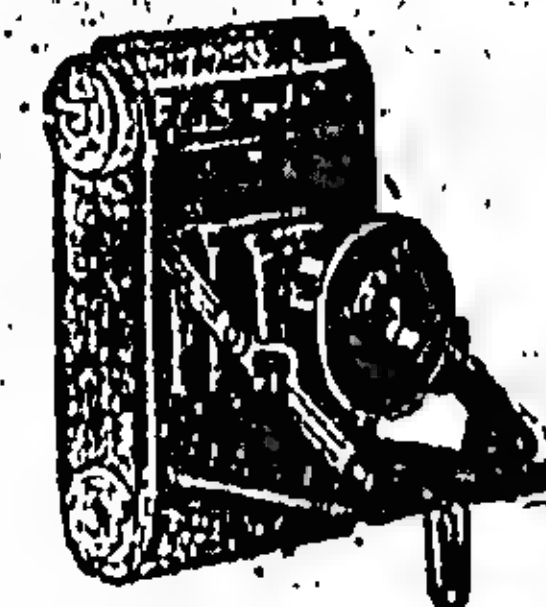

Pepsodent—special FILM-removing tooth paste

Removing FILM is, and always will be, Pepsodent's chief duty. Today's Pepsodent performs that duty better than ever before. Its new cleansing and polishing material brings a change in teeth' appearance within a few days' time.

SOUTH CHINA UNLUCKY

The exclusive announcement made yesterday in the Telegraph of alterations to rules of the Redball Association last night, when the new regulations were passed.

The chief points in them are:
(1) The management of the competition passes into the hands of the Redball Association.
(2) The competition is no longer between teams of the P.A. and the C.A.B.S.
(3) It will be run on a league system of home and away matches, with a deciding match on a neutral ground if necessary.

REQUEST REFUSED.

Another important matter before the Council, was the question of South China and their league fixtures. The Club sought permission to postpone them until the team returned from South, but this was refused.

A full report of the meeting follows.

Major C. M. Mayhew presided. A letter was read from the R.C.A. stating that they had been asked to send their entire team to Hongkong for the National Meet and asked that, as the team would not return to the Colony until the end of October, they should be allowed to postpone their league games until later in the season.

A similar request was received in respect of the Junior side, the latter stating that several of the players had gone with the senior side to Hongkong.

SHANGHAI LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

KHOO HOO-HYE ENTERS FINAL AT EXPENSE OF HUI.
CHINESE PAIR TAKE LEAD IN DOUBLES

Beating T. K. Yui by three sets to one, Khoo Hoo-hye, holder, and former Malayan champion, entered the final of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis singles championship last Sunday.

Khoo won his semi-final tie by the scores of 8-6, 1-5, 6-0, 6-4, but he was hard put to score the success. The match was postponed from an earlier date, when Khoo had won the first set after losing the first five games.

FIVE IN A ROW.

On Sunday his opponent again took a five-love lead in the second set and clinched it at the seventh game. He played amazing tennis during this period and had Khoo completely at sea.

Then reaction set in, and Khoo captured the third set to love, but again Yui returned and led 4-2 in the fourth set. Khoo's experience stood him in good stead and he went away to win four games in succession for the match.

DOUBLES.

The doubles final was also started but had to be postponed on account of darkness. Khoo and Paul Kong were then leading Carson and Liang 6-3, 2-0, 6-3, 8-8.

Khoo Hoo-hye.

Khoo had an attack of cramp in the leg and the game was temporarily suspended. This was due to the strenuous work he put in the singles match. After the injury which happened in the second set Khoo was a mere passenger and could not display his usual steady form.

KHOO PLAYS WELL.

The opening set went to Khoo and Kong by the score of 6-3. The Chinese pair took the first two games but Carson and Liang succeeded in tying the count at two all. Then Khoo and Kong rallied to force ahead, leading by five to two. After yielding the eighth game to Carson and Liang, the Chinese pair was awarded with the decision. Liang was poor and erratic while Carson was very dependable at the net. Khoo played an aggressive game with his swift drives.

With Khoo and Kong leading by two games to nothing in the second set, Khoo somehow twisted his leg muscles and had to be attended by his managers. It took about 15 minutes before he was able to resume the game. Khoo was limping all the time while his opponents seized the opportunity to play to Khoo, Liang and Carson, won the set with six games in a row.

Khoo seemed to have recovered from his injury and played better in the third set. The Chinese pair took first game but Liang and Carson snatched the lead by winning two games. By winning four games in succession the Chinese pair led by five to two. Carson and Liang won the next game to shorten the margin down to 6 to 4. Then Khoo and Kong took the ninth game to capture the set at 6-3.

DILEMMA

SHANGHAI TEAM UNKNOWN

NO DECISION AT 11.30 A.M.

THE PROSPECTS

Up to half past eleven this morning Mr. T. G. Main, manager of the Shanghai Interport lawn bowls team, was still grappling with the problem as to who should constitute his rink for the opening Interport match at the Craigengower Cricket Club this afternoon.

The whole of the team assembled at the Craigengower Club fairly early this morning and all of the players had a roll up.

At half past eleven I rang up Mr. Main, writes "Veritas", but he had not then made his selection and it appeared unlikely that he would make any decision before 11.30.

Hongkong will thus take the green not knowing the composition of the Shanghai rink.

FAST GREEN.

This morning's fierce sun has done much to improve the prospects of the victors. The green promises to be comparatively fast, certainly faster than any since their opening match against the Police.

Shanghai have already displayed their partiality to this type of green, and the local bowlers can expect to find themselves up against a good fighting rink this afternoon.

The match starts at 3 p.m., admission being $1.

The Hongkong rink will be:

A. E. Cones (C.C.C.),
J. Chalmers (T.D.R.C.),
W. Mair (Police),
R. P. Luz (Recreo) skip.

BEATEN BY K.C.C.

Shanghai Without Team Work

T. G. Main the manager of the Shanghai lawn bowls Interport team continued experimenting in the composition of his rink on the eve of the first Interport yesterday, but again he drew blank, the Kowloon Cricket Club winning quite comfortably by 21 shots to 13.

Probably no team manager has ever been faced with such an onerous task as that confronting Main. Sent down with a team of skips, he has been trying hard to find the right combination over since he landed here with his colleagues.

Twice winning rinks have turned up, but only one of these could be regarded as being impressive.

NEW CUP RULES PASSED

It was stated that the S.C.A.A. had been notified that the fixtures would be put before the League Management Committee.

NO COMMENT NECESSARY.

The chairman invited comments on the matter and Mr. E. T. James remarked that none were necessary. He suggested that they be allowed to postpone Saturday's match only, it was impossible to dis-arrange the League further.

The Chairman: Some action must be taken by this Council.
Capt. Williams: They did not ask permission to tour.

Mr. James: They did not need to ask permission. It is not necessary according to the rules. They have chosen to go but they must fulfil their League fixtures.

The Chairman: We will forget the question as to whether they had permission - or not. What we are interested in is that they have asked to be allowed to postpone their 1st and 2nd team matches.

COMMITTEE'S DECISION.

Capt. Williams mentioned that it was a matter for the League Management Committee to decide. He suggested that that committee retire for a few moments to consider the question.

This was agreed to and after a brief retirement it was reported that the committee had decided that no postponement be allowed, and the recommendation was carried by the council on the motion of Capt. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. J. Ralston. Mr. Bush was the only member to vote against.

Mr. Bush stated that the South China Athletic Association and the Chinese Athletic had agreed to field a side for the Governor's Cup game on Tuesday, the announcement being greeted with applause.

It was reported that Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotowall had written resigning from the position of vice-president and that Mr. M. K. Lo had been invited to fill the vacancy and had accepted.

GOVERNOR'S CUP RULES.

On the motion of Mr. James, seconded by Capt. Williams, the following rules were passed in connexion with the Governor's Cup competition:

1. The competition shall be called the Governor's Challenge Cup Competition and shall be under the management of the Hongkong Football Association.

2. This Cup shall be competed for annually on the League system by two teams representing respectively the Chinese and Non-Chinese Clubs in membership of the Association.

3. The Non-Chinese team shall be selected by the Council of the Hongkong Football Association. The Chinese team shall be selected by a Committee consisting of representatives of the Chinese teams in the first division of the Hongkong Amateur Football League.

4. The winners of the competition shall hold the Cup until next competition for.

5. There shall be no entrance fee.

6. Home and away matches shall be played and a draw made annually for the choice of ground for the first match. A deciding match shall be played on a ground fixed by the Council. Duration of play shall be ninety minutes. In the event of a deciding match should the scores be equal at the end of time, an extra ten minutes shall be played each way.

7. Referees and Linesmen shall be appointed by the Referees Committee from the Official list of referees and fees shall be paid as follows:—Referees $5.00 per match; Linesmen $2.00 per match.

Yesterday there was an astonishing lack of team work. Bailey, who started the tour so well was in wretched form, and although Main at No. 2 strove hard throughout and met with deserved success here and there, only Charlie Richards maintained consistently good form.

Shanghai have become notoriously bad starters. Yesterday they allowed Kowloon Cricket Club to obtain a useful lead, and although they managed to knock it off by the half way stage, they suffered a perfectly natural reaction and collapsed on the last few heads.

Sikestone skipped the Club rink with rare judgment and skill, and Howe at No. 2 gave splendid support. They, together with Richards were the best bowlers on the green, the remainder displaying varying form.

The full scores of the match were:

to be of great advantage. The French side also used a substitute in the second half, Goldfield going in for Ward.

DOO'S GOOD DEFENCE.

K. Y. Doo, the right half back, was the mainstay of the Chinese defence, feeling and tackling well. In the attacking department Sung, the captain, was a good leader and was well supported by his inside men.

H. K. Zung and H. K. Lu, the two substitutes, who were deputized to play in the second period, netted two points each. Sung scored the tying goal in the first half after Greenberg of the A. S. F. opened the scoring with a pretty shot at a difficult angle.

The lineups were as follows:—Chinese:—S. S. Koo, Z. K. Kiang, N. Lee, K. Y. Doo, A. H. Zee, S. D. Liang, Y. S. Tsong, K. C. Chen, N. Z. Lee, S. K. Sung and Z. H. Van. Substitutes:—Y. Y. Fung, T. Z. Chen, H. K. Zung and H. K. Lu. A. S. F.:—Folozou, Tordy, Nicholaffe, W. Ward, Remedios, Ganiaro, Favacho, Collet, J. Ward, Bossuet, and Greenberg. Substitute:—Goldfield.

8. Ten per cent of the net gate receipts of each match, after all expenses have been met, shall be paid to the Club on whose ground the match is played.

9. A small replica of the Cup shall be presented to each member of the winning team.

10. The Council of the Hongkong Football Association shall have power to amend these rules at their discretion and any matter not covered by these rules shall be dealt with by the Council.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRIS

"It's all in learning the slang that goes with the racket."
That's how Lee Tracy explains how he can portray a reporter or a columnist, a soldier or a politician. The great American trick of idiom is the answer. Every calling has its own language nowadays, says Lee—and he keeps up on all of it.

That's how he blended legal verbiage and underworld slang in his latest roles. In "The Nuisance," coming next Thursday to the Queen's Theatre, and created a shyster lawyer character that is one of the most amazing of his diversified roles.

"Here's an ambulance-chasing shyster," explains Tracy. "He deals mostly with crooks, so he picks up their lingo. Still, he's gone through law college and knows the court patter too. So we mix the two together, and we have the kind of shyster you can see hanging around almost any police court or hall-bond joint in any city in the world."

Of like the role. Had a chance to show some of the inside facts of the ambulance racket, on it's practiced in big cities, with faked injuries, damage claims and all that. There's a drive on it here and there right now—it's in the newspapers—and I like roles as modern as that.

"The Good Companions"
It will always be a matter of conjecture which of two very famous actors would best create the part of Jess Oakroyd, in the film "The Good Companions" since only one of them could play the role in the film.

Originally Victor J. Sallis selected Henry Ainley, the celebrated Shakespearean actor, for the role. Filming had proceeded for about three weeks when Mr. Ainley was taken seriously ill. As his recovery was a question of weeks, the film could not be held up for so long a period, so filming had to commence all over again with Edmund Gwenn filling Henry Ainley's role.

The actors, of course, are old friends. Between filming Gwenn found time to visit the other "Jess" in the nursing home, and to console with him on his loss of a very fine part.

Edmund Gwenn accepted the role at a few hours' notice. He was greatly worried at not having time to study his part before filming commenced. However, that hasn't spoiled his performance, and his portrayal with its Yorkshire dialect is sheer delight.

"The Good Companions" is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

"King Kong"

In Hollywood there is a man who makes the sphinx seem talkative. Not even his employers know his secrets.

He is Willis O'Brien, from Oakland, California—a miracle man who can revive the past! He pulls prehistoric monsters, seventy-five feet long, out of his hat! He makes to-day yesterday—yesterday today.

He is the man of the hour on the RKO-Radio lot, for without him that studio's great bid for screen immortality would be impossible. The bid is "King Kong" completed after more than two years of production effort conducted behind locked and guarded stage doors.

For "King Kong" O'Brien conjured, magically, among other things, animals that thrived from seven to thirty-five million years ago, including a tyrannosaurus, a megalosaurus, a brontosaurus, a pterodactyl.

The largest of these, tyrannosaurus, weighed thirty tons, is twenty feet high and measured fifty feet in length. The pterodactyl, a flying reptile, had a wing spread of twenty-five feet.

These, moreover, can be considered mere samples of his ingenuity, for he created an ape fifty feet tall, thirty-six feet around the chest and weighing between fifteen and twenty tons!

The story, fantastic one by Merian C. Cooper and Edgar Wallace, is based upon the situation which arises when the mammoth ape becomes fascinated with a beautiful young white woman, he captures her in the jungle. For her he battles prehistoric monsters to the death, and in the end makes an attack upon civilization itself.

Ray Wray, Robert Armstrong, Bruce Cabot and Sam Hardy are in the cast. "King Kong" opens at the Central Theatre to-day.

"Rasputin and the Empress"
The ill-fated Russian family, Rasputin the Mad Monk, those machine-guns that wrecked the empire, and the pomp and panoply of the most colorful royal court in the world, all come to life under the magic spell of John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore in "Rasputin and the Empress," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacle of the fall of the Romanoffs, now playing at the Queen's Theatre.

Here is modern history—the inside of the plot, counterplots, intrigues and angles in the shadow of a tottering throne. Only slightly fictionalized, it breathes veritable life.

John Barrymore as the romantic Prince Chagodloff, victim of Rasputin's plotting and later his nemesis; Ethel Barrymore as the tragic Czarina, blaming herself for the fall of the little son whom she loves more than life; Lionel as the wily Rasputin, ruling an empire through his superstitious monarchs—all fairly live their remarkable roles.

The czar is reincarnated in the perfect makeup and acting of Ralph Morgan. The little Czarovitch lives again in Tad Alexander, and such historic personages are brought to life as the beautiful Princess Natasha, Diana Wynyard, the Grand Duke Igor (C. Henry Gordon), and the celebrated court physician who tried in vain to cure the Czarovitch of his curious ailment, played by Edward Arnold. All these characters step from the pages of a few years ago to live anew.

"Rasputin and the Empress" is the most spectacular picture since the advent of the talkies. Great ceremonies in the Winter Palace in St. Petersburg with gorgeously garbed throngs, and the impressive coronation at the Kremlin with costumes and settings absolutely true to the originals, form a striking background for the tense drama of the story. Richard Boleslavsky directed with deft skill and a sure knowledge.

CHILDREN AIDED

BAZAAR AT CONVENT OF PRECIOUS BLOOD

A three days bazaar held by the Sisters of the Precious Blood Convent in aid of their children's hospital, clinic, and orphanage, was formally opened by Lady Pollock at the Convent Building at Yuen Chow Street, Shamshuipo, yesterday afternoon.

The grounds were beflagged, and laid out with a number of stalls providing many kinds of amusements, and also articles of a reasonable and useful nature, for the most part consisting of needlework, made by the Sisters and their charges, and offered at prices within the range of the average purse.

Lady Pollock, who is the patroness of the function, was welcomed by Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan and Mr. H. C. H. Lim, Hon. President and Hon. Vice President respectively, and other officials on the committee of the bazaar. Subsequently she was conducted over the grounds and took a keen interest in the variety of attractive goods displayed.

In declaring the bazaar open, Lady Pollock drew attention to the worthy aims of the institution, supplying it did an urgent need by the poorest classes of the Colony. She made a strong appeal for support from all sections of the community, and concluded by thanking the committee and Sisters for the kind invitation extended to her.

London, Oct. 6.
An inquest was held to-day into the death of Mrs. Alice M. Williamson the famous novelist, who died last week.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death due to veronol poisoning, accidentally administered by herself.

Mrs. Williamson (formerly Miss Livingston) collaborated with her husband in writing serial stories, and both became famous. She has also written many novels. Most of the work done in conjunction with her husband had a distinct motoring flavour.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

WATER REPORT.

SATISFACTORY STORAGE NOTED ON ISLAND

The latest water situation is revealed in the return for September, which shows that whereas a constant supply was maintained throughout the Hill and Mid-Level districts during the whole month in 1932 restrictions in supply had to be made this year.

The report states that last year there was full Rider Main supply throughout the City during the whole month excepting in those houses where connection to the Rider Main had already been cut. All districts were this year restricted from September 1 to 8 to ten hours, from September 9 to 20 to a six hour supply, and from September 21 to 30 to an eight hour supply.

Tyram reservoir was level on October 1 compared with 23 inches below overflow last year. An improvement is also noted in Tyram Byewash where the water was 50 inches below on October 1 last year and is recorded at level this year. Tyram Tuk on the other hand shows a large decrease. On October 1 last year the records show that the reservoir was full, but this year on the same date the level is given at 13 feet 10 ins. below overflow. Lower Aberdeen was 29 feet 9 inches below at the beginning of October in 1932, and this year has improved to 3 feet 5 ins.

The total storage is computed at 2,042.77 million gallons compared with 2,251.07 million gallons last year on October 1.

On the mainland all reservoirs are full, as was the position last year. The figure for Kowloon Main shows that the storage is 3 feet above overflow, and the total shows an increase on October 1 this year as against last year of 32.50 million gallons. A constant supply was allowed during the whole month last year, but this year the supply was restricted to ten hours from September 1 to September 12.

As regards consumption during the month on the island, it is reported that the total quantity consumed was 265.38 million gallons compared with 378.58 million gallons last year. The estimated population is given as 387,000 compared with 384,000 and the consumption 22.9 gallons per head per day as against 32.7 gallons last year.

The total quantity consumed on the mainland was 206.29 million gallons as against 174.75 million gallons last year. The population this year is estimated at 318,356 and the consumption per day per head is given at 21.6 gallons. Last year's figures were 304,550 persons and 19.1 gallons per head.

Of the total quantity of water consumed on the island 73.75 million gallons were brought from the mainland. Last year the figure was as high as 110.49 millions.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

I wish to clear up a point regarding original third hand bids in the constructive one over one system.

As you already know, in order to make an original first or second hand bid you must have between three and three and one-half high card tricks. In addition to stating that you have this strength when making a first or second hand bid, you also tell your partner that your hand contains re-bid values; therefore you are often required to pass a fairly strong hand in first or second position.

So, of necessity, third hand must open very light. As a matter of fact, the better players to-day seldom pass in third position, especially when not vulnerable.

If this is true, how can you tell whether your partner, bidding third hand, is bidding a psychic or has a real bid?

First, if partner's hand contains no strength and he simply wishes to make a bid, he should open with one club. This bid of one club does not signify that he holds a club suit—it is simply an opening bid, and unless partner re-bids clubs or makes a constructive bid in another suit at some later stage in the bidding, you must not count his hand for any strength.

If the third hand bidder opens with one diamond, it still does not signify that he has a diamond suit—it may simply state, "If you are going to choose between a club and a diamond lead in case we do not get the contract, I would prefer that you lead a diamond." Of course, he may have a good diamond suit—however, this fact will be shown in the later stages of the bidding.

If the third hand bidder makes an original bid of one heart he definitely states that he has a heart suit and that his hand contains possibly two to two and one-half high card tricks. In other words, don't make a weak third hand bid of one heart unless you are prepared to play the hand at hearts, and have some side strength.

An original third hand bid of one spade shows a biddable spade suit and should show two and one-half high card tricks. With less than this holding in either major, it is advisable for you to open the bidding with one club or one diamond.

In my next article I will give you an interesting example of a third hand club bid.

SOVIET BLAMED.

ALLEGED SABOTAGE ON C.E.R.

Harbin, Oct. 6. Li Shao-keng issued a statement to the press yesterday evening, blaming the Soviet officials employed by the Chinese Eastern Railway for their alleged sabotage policy.

Mr. Li declared Manchukuo demanded the removal of the seals and the unlocking of the private office of the detained accountant, M. Kubel. Otherwise, he stated, Manchukuo would take the necessary steps to obtain this, even if it was necessary to obtain police assistance.

Mr. Li Shao-keng is again holding a press conference at 9 a.m. to-day, when an important declaration is anticipated.—Reuter.

CHINESE Y.W.C.A.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES

The autumn session of the Chinese Y.W.C.A. Educational Department is just opening. The courses are arranged to meet the definite needs of members and to supplement regular school work.

These include the following:—
St. John Ambulance Course.—First Aid and Nursing. These are under the supervision of qualified nurses and physicians.

Courses of 12 lessons in foreign and Chinese cookery. There is a growing demand on the part of Western women for such instruction in Chinese cookery and for these the Association can make provision. The classes are interpreted when necessary.

This year for the first time an innovation is being made by introducing a three months course in dressmaking. This includes cutting out and making Chinese and Western clothes.

Instruction in home management, including entertaining of guests, child training, training of servants. Working schedule of the day and budget making.

A primary physical training course including simple drills, games, folk dancing and ball exercises.

Piano lessons are arranged for a limited number.

Registrations should be made promptly for any of the above, as the number of some classes must be limited.

A letter or telephone message to the Educational Secretary will bring further information if desired.

VISCOUNT ISHI'S ADVICE.

JAPAN WANTS NO WAR WITH U.S.

Tokyo, Oct. 6. "America would not be silly enough to follow the path of destruction taken by the Russian Imperial Fleet in 1905," said Viscount Ishii, in the course of an interview on his return to Tokyo from Europe to-day.

Viscount Ishii headed the Japanese delegation to the World Economic Conference in London, and only recently passed through Hongkong on his way home.

Viscount Ishii made the statement that there were many people in Europe who had an unholy desire for war in the Pacific.

Their object was, he said, to capture the markets now held by Japan and America, should these two nations be involved in a war with one another.

The statesman expressed the conviction that America and Japan would never fight.

He cautioned the political leaders of both countries never to become "the cat's paws of other nations."—Reuter.

BANDITS ATTACK TRAIN

LATEST AFFAIRS
NEAR NEUCHWANG

Tokyo, Oct. 3.
The story of a daring attack on a train speeding to Neuchwang from Kowpangtze is related in press messages received here to-day from Mukden.

The attack occurred yesterday afternoon near Tienchiwangtze, roughly twenty miles northwest of Neuchwang, and was led by the notorious bandit chieftain, Su Hui, who has eluded capture for many years.

Bringing the train to a standstill, the bandits poured a fusillade of rifle fire into the coaches, with the result that one of the passengers was killed, 23 seriously injured and a score or so others slightly wounded.

After robbing the passengers of all their money, valuables and other possessions which they fancied, the bandits decamped, taking twenty persons as hostages.

Cantonese Lessons By Radio

Sir,—Several years ago lessons in Cantonese were broadcast over the radio by the Rev. Mr. H. R.
Wells, which were deeply appreciated by myself and many others.

I am writing to express the hope,
through your valued column, that the radio committee may be pro-vailed upon to arrange for Cantonese lessons to be given by Dr.
Wells over the radio. Not merely young foreign business men in the Colony but many others would be benefited as well as amused by the characteristic witty manner of Dr.
Wells in making the very great difficult Chinese language as simple for the learner as A.B.C.

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR AUSTRIA

Four Chambers to Replace Parliament

Vienna, Oct. 2.

The Vienna press to-day publishes some interesting details of the new Austrian Constitution which is being drawn up by Chancellor Dollfuss and Herr Ender, Minister for the Interior, and which is proposed to serve as a basis for the new corporate Austrian State.

It appears that the old Parliament will be replaced by four new Chambers, namely: National Council, Corporate Council, Council of the Federal States, and the Supreme State Council.

The National Council will embrace eighty elected deputies who will probably be divided as heretofore into various political groups. Suffrage will be modified to the extent that the voting age will be raised to thirty years while a certain group of voters will be granted plural suffrage.

Members of the Corporate Council will be appointed by various economic and vocational bodies, co-operative societies, Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture and other organizations with workers and employers represented in equal numbers.

The Council of the Federal States will be composed of two delegates from each of the nine federal states, while the Supreme State Council will have twenty members appointed by the President of the Republic.

—Laws may be passed by the National Council with the approval of the Corporate Council, while all measures taken by the National Council may be voted by the joint vote of the other three Councils.

LORD MARLEY SYMPATHY PARTY

DEMONSTRATION BY CHINESE RADICALS

Shanghai, Oct. 4.

Chinese radicals tried to hold a "meeting of sympathy with Lord Marley" yesterday evening, intending to hold a demonstration at six o'clock on the Bund, near Avenue Edward VII. Beyond one or two minor incidents, however,
nothing untoward occurred.
Police of both the International Settlement and the French Concession stood by in case of trouble.

Beyond the distribution of pamphlets and throwing a firecracker into a rickshaw, nothing of note happened, the crowd dispersing shortly after seven o'clock, having achieved nothing. The presence of the police probably acted as a deterrent, and, as an additional precaution, the police remained on duty at the scene of the meeting. Nothing further, however, was reported up to a late hour last night.
